Of Interest To Veterans

The Veterans Administration today reminded veterans that some of them may be making unnecessary premium payments on their National Service Life Insurance Policies.

"All NSLI policies beginning with World War II provide for a waiver of premium payments if you become totally disabled," reported VA Regional Office Roanoke.

"A veteran owning this insurance may not be required to pay premiums if he or she becomes totally disabled before reaching age 65 and the disability has existed for at least six consecutive months," VA added.

But it was pointed out that, under the law, waiver of premium payments for disability is not automatic.

"The veteran must apply for the waiver, and refunds of premiums already paid after the onset of disability are usually limited to one year prior to the filing of the claim," VA explained.

"Total disability" for insurance purposes means that the veteran is prevented from working because of the disability.

For additional information and application form, veterans were advised to contact the nearest VA office or write to the VA center which handles their insurance.

Grade Price Support Rates For 1976-Crop Flue-Cured Tobacco Announced

The U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) on June 29 announced rates by grades which producers will receive for 1976 crop flue-cured tobacco delivered for support. These rates range from 71c to $1.35 a pound and are the same for tied and untied tobacco.

The rates reflect an average support of $1.06 a pound, about 15.7 percent above 1975, as announced May 21, 1976. Increases over 1975 grade rates range from 5-19 cents per pound. In a press release issued June 2 (1552-76) USDA asked for comments on the proposed price support rates for 1976-crop flue-cured tobacco.

As in past years, growers will offer their tobacco at auction warehouses. Advances will be made available through the Flue-cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation to Farmers who designate the warehouses at which their tobacco will be offered, and certify that they have not used pesticides containing DDT* TDE, toxaphene or endrin on their tobacco; advances are available on marketings not in excess of 110 percent of farmers' poundage quotas. Marketings over the farm poundage quota will be subtracted from next year's quota.

As in the past, no advances will be offered on any tobacco graded N 2 (second quality nondescript), No G (no grade), U (unsound), W (doubtful keeping order), or scrap. Marketings of these grades however, will be charged against the quotas for the farms upon which they were produced.

Copies of the rate schedule may be obtained from the Tobacco and Peanut Division, Room 5730-S, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Flue-cured tobacco is grown in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

Virginia Council For The Deaf Offers Help To Employers

The Virginia Council for the Deaf is prepared to assist government and private employers throughout the state in better understanding and communicating with deaf persons, says Fred F. Yates, executive secretary of the Council.

"While a few businesses and government agencies in the state have hired deaf persons for years, there are many who are still unaware of the potential of deaf employees," Yates said.

The Council can provide assistance to employers by (1) Supplying information about deafness to help create understanding of the handicap; (2) Arranging for interpreters to help personnel officers in the interviewing of deaf persons; (3) Arranging for training of interpreters within an agency or business; and (4) Providing information on possible job openings for deaf persons to the Virginia Employment Commission, the Dept. of Vocational Rehabilitation and other groups who could be helpful in locating deaf employees.

The Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare is currently developing guidlines for this country's first major civil rights program to protect 25 million handicapped Americans," Yates said, "And these guidelines being considered will benefit deaf persons in several ways." (For example, government agencies who deal with clients by telephone will have to find other ways to communicate with deaf persons. The onus will be placed on the agency, rather than on the individual.)

"We support the new civil rights program for handicapped persons and the current affirmative action programs already in effect," Yates said, "however, we feel that government sanctions may not be necessary once employers better understand the value of deaf persons and other handicapped people as employees."

The Council recently hired a full-time program consultant to work with state agencies in helping them relate to their deaf clients and their deaf employees. The Council also plans to retain technical consultants to begin development of program materials for employers to use in training deaf employees.

Employers who would like more information about deafness or who would like to hire deaf persons can call the Virginia Council for the Deaf toll free at 800-552-7917. (Inside the Richmond area dial 786-6084 or 786-6487.) The Council for the Deaf office is at 4615 W. Broad Street Suite 210, Richmond, Va. 23230.

BICENTENNIAL AMERICA

Colonel Washington Wins His First Battle

Few people in America realize it but an area of America called Penn's Southwest has had a tremendous impact on America's history. It was here that George Washington, then a colonel in the British Army, won his first battle.

On or about May 24, in the year 1754, Washington and his men, seeking a short cut to the forks of the Ohio River, were camped in an area known as Great Meadows (near present-day Farmington in Fayette County). He received a message that an armed body of French were in the area and were "resolved to strike the first English they see."

On the basis of this intelligence Washington assumed he was about to be attacked. He took 40 of his men and surrounded the French. What happened next is still a matter of dispute, depending largely on whether the story is told by French or Americans or English. It does seem that Washington accidentally revealed himself at the edge of a ravine, that the French saw him, shouted a warning, and ran for their muskets. Washington ordered his men to open fire and when the battle was over 10 Frenchmen lay dead and Washington found himself with 21 prisoners.

Thus in the backwoods of southwestern Pennsylvania was touched off the last and greatest of the French and Indian wars (1763-1760), called the Seven Years' War in Europe. Today, within a 500-mile radius of this area in Southwestern Pennsylvania lives nearly 70 percent of the nation's population, accounting for more than two-thirds the income in the United States.

IN MEMORY

July, 1976
In loving memory of my dear husband and our daddy, John D. Guill, who passed away three years ago, July 22, 1973.
When God took you from me,
He took my heart,
For I have never been the same.
Since we have been apart.
You were taken so suddenly,
Without a word of goodby,
I hope to meet you someday
and you can tell me why.
How could my heart forget you,
When everything I do is something that reminds me of happy years I spent with you.
Odelle Guill Campbell and Children, Barbara, Jean, David and Juanita. 7-29-1t

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our Grandfather, Mr. John Reed Berkley, Sr., on his birthday, August 4.
God took you to his beautiful home.
Where there is no pain.
Or sorrow, only happiness.
With farewells left unspoken.
You suddenly slipped away.
God knows how much we miss you.
Never shall your memory fade.
Loving thoughts will always wander,
To the place where you were laid.
When looking back with tenderness.
Along the way you trod.
We bless the years we had with you,
And leave the rest to God.
Loving Grandchildren,
Carolyn Floyd, Jr.

Beef Prices Down;

CHICAGO - With retail beef prices at their lowest levels in months, consumers should be seeing remarkable buying opportunities at their meat counters, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Beef prices at the store have fallen 20¢ lb. and more compared to last year, says the Meat Board.

The 20¢ lb. figure is quoted by Meat Board President David H. Stroud as an average based on national statistics and the drop in price will vary for each particular beef cut and in different cities and stores. But some of the normally higher priced cuts have been cut even more as retailers have tried to give consumers the benefit of dramatically lower cattle prices, Stroud said.

"Most people consider beef an excellent buy in terms of nutritional quality and eating satisfaction," Stroud said, "but for the next several weeks, shoppers will find more beef at lower prices than we anticipate for the rest of the year."

Beef production is down sadly several factors have caused the beef price decline. In some regions of the country continued drought is forcing farmers and ranchers to market more animals. And feedlot placements also were much higher as cattlemen last spring anticipated cheaper feed and a strong market.

But, the Meat Board pointed out, total beef production has jumped by 3 percent over last year - - an increase sufficient to upset normal supply-demand economics and movement of cattle to beef.

"Unfortunately, said Stroud, "this good news for consumers, coming in the form of mid-summer bargains in beef, presents an extended risk situation for the cattle industry. Current cattle prices received by farmers and feeders are well below costs of production.

"We encourage consumer buying at this time in order to insure a reasonably priced beef supply over the next couple of years," Stroud said. "If the severe economic strictures go on much longer, it could drive too many of the people who are producing beef out of business," he noted.
